OFFICE OF COMMUNITY COLLEGE RESEARCH AND LEADERSHIP

OVERVIEW

The program review process, coordinated by the Illinois Community College Board, helps support colleges in making campus-level planning and decisions related to the quality, cost-effectiveness, assessment and improvement of programs. It also identifies programs that should be discontinued or scaled back. Conversely, program review highlights best practices and exemplary innovations that can be scaled to fit colleges internally or externally.

GOALS

- Improve the efficiency and efficacy of the program review process
- Examine variations of the program review process across institutional contexts and identities
- Identify numerous ways to improve program review outcomes
- Enhance the application of program review findings for colleges
